

Hairy situations? We've seen them all.

Yet every story offers more surprises than the last. Here are some noteworthy “tails” from our policyholders.

Beau's race against time

After eating pieces of a toy car, Beau was rushed to the veterinarian's office. The diagnosis was grim: Beau needed immediate surgery to save his life. The veterinarian removed 42 metal toy race car pieces—plus a dish towel.

“I'm so glad I have VPI. Needless to say, I've gotten better at keeping track of my dish towels and making my son pick up his toys. Thank you, VPI, for taking care of the rest.”

~ The Choate Family

Foreign body ingestion[†]

Veterinary Fee*	VPI Major Medical Plan reimbursement ($100 deductible)	VPI Medical Plan reimbursement ($100 deductible)
$1,866	$1,766	$1,060

Toby's snow play ends in surgery

On a snowy afternoon, Toby was having fun catching snowballs. But when he jumped up and landed awkwardly, his owners heard a snap “like a broomstick.” Toby had a spiral fracture and needed to see an orthopedist to have his leg surgically repaired with a pin.

“VPI covered so much more than what I expected. It really helped us financially. After this, I just think people would have to be insane not to have VPI for their pets.”

~ The Hanson Family

Broken leg with spiral fracture[†]

Veterinary Fee*	VPI Major Medical Plan reimbursement ($100 deductible)	VPI Medical Plan reimbursement ($100 deductible)
$1,118	$1,018	$905

* VPI does not determine the amount a veterinarian may charge; that amount will vary by region and veterinary practice.

[†] These are real stories from VPI policyholders who were enrolled prior to the introduction of the VPI Major Medical and Medical Plans. Claims were reimbursed according to the respective plan in which the policyholder was enrolled at the time. Amounts shown here reflect what would have been reimbursed through the updated plans based on a $100 annual deductible. Available deductible amounts are $100, $250, $500 and $1,000.

